USE OF THE P-F2.10 FORM

The policies for awarding academic tenure are listed in the Faculty Handbook.

The faculty member must provide the Department Chair with appropriate evidence and documentation of effectiveness and quality of performance.

The following information, provided by the faculty member, is necessary for adequate evaluation:

1. Instructional materials developed by the faculty member.
2. Special contributions made to course and curriculum development.
3. Reprints of publications; copies of books and articles.
4. Contracts with learned societies, including names of organizations, offices held, and meetings attended.
5. Research, creative activities or professional advancement with summary of major accomplishments.
6. Evidence of public and college service.
7. Evidence of academic advising of undergraduate students.
8. Awards, scholarships, fellowships, and honors received.
9. Copies of student evaluations.

The following information provided by the Department Chair is necessary:

1. Evidence of quality of teaching (student evaluations, visits to classes, shared instruction, review of examinations, and judgment of department faculty).
2. Evidence that the faculty member makes a strong contribution toward achievement of departmental objectives.
3. Evidence of the quality of academic advising.
4. Evidence of the quality of research, creative work or professional advancement.
5. Evaluation of the quality of the faculty member=s publications and scholarly productivity.
6. Evaluation of the faculty member=s professional development (progress toward terminal degree, maintaining currency in the field).
7. Evaluation of the quality of public and college service.

The Department Chair, Dean, Vice President for Academic Affairs, and Campus Tenure Committee should evaluate the quality of the evidence submitted.
